DONNER SUMMIT—ONCE UPON A TIME

This ancient photograph, taken near the turn of the century, shows the "highway" at Donner Summit—a far cry from the four wide lanes of Interstate 80 which will be dedicated at cermonies scheduled for 1 p. m. Sunday, November 1. The old car dates the picture. The two fishermen in the lower left corner are apparently enjoying the quiet outing, undisturbed by hurried drivers in congested traffic, a condition which has existed in recent years.

First Big Storm Of Season Hits Here During Dedication

The dedication of the new freeway across Donner Summit Sunday proved conclusively that the improvement is a vital necessity for the thousands of vehicles which use the route daily.

A blinding snow storm, reminiscent of the one which trapped members of the ill-fated Donner Party nearly 120 years ago at the same spot where the ceremonies were held Sunday, prevented the expected attendance but did not hinder the delayed program.

The site of the ceremonies was moved from the 7,200-foot summit on the new four-lane freeway to the cozy Emigrant Trail Museum at Donner State Park after the snow and snarled traffic closed the highway during Sunday afternoon. Scheduled for 1 p. m., the dedication finally got under way about 3 p. m. Many of the officials scheduled to take part were prevented from attending by the storm and closed highway.

Ray Carlisle, president of the Placer County Chamber of Commerce, was master of ceremonies and announced that the huge papier

Boy Lost In Storm Found Safe After All Night Search

A tragedy was averted Monday morning when a 14-year old Castro Valley boy, lost in a blinding snow storm three miles northwest of Hobart Mills was found huddled in a station wagon by members of local rescue parties.

The boy, Eugene Pipe, was hunting in the area Sunday with his father, Albert and a second adult. About 1 p. m. their pickup became stalled and Eugene was sent to their camp about three-quarters of a mile distant, to procure a shovel.

After a lengthy wait, the father left the pickup to seek the boy. He found Eugene had been at the camp and the shovel was missing. The two adults started to return to the pickup and became confused in directions. They abandoned the search about 4 p. m. and called for assistance in Truckee.

Sheriffs Deputies Leo Zander and David Eaton organized a search, calling upon the Sierra Rescue Squad, headed by Leon Hutchins and Tom Dolley. Twenty-seven men with 12 Jeeps scoured the rugged area all night. Nine walkie-talkies kept the searchers in contact with one another and shortly after 7 Monday morning, the Pipe boy was found huddled in the pickup, cold, hungry and tired but otherwise unharmed. The three hunters returned immediately to their homes.

The Nevada State Rangers were called to aid in the search but were turned back at Floriston after the youth was found.

TWO WOODLAND MEN INJURED IN CAR CRASH

Two Woodland men were injured about noon Tuesday when the pickup truck in which they were returning from a Colorado deer hunting trip, collided headon with an east-bound cattle truck at the Horseshoe on Donner grade.

Treated at the Tahoe Forest Hospital were John Lee of Lee's Auto Body in Woodland, who suffered major injuries and his companion, Orvil D. Hovis, 44, of the Yellow Cab Company in Woodland, and the truck driver, David H. Hall, 38, Twin Falls, Idaho.

The California Highway Patrol reported Lee, traveling west, allowed the pickup to drift to the wrong side of the road.

The vehicle collided with such force that the pickup was hurled across the highway. The impact splintered the stocks of the rifles which were hanging back of the cab.

Held For Burglary

Four San Francisco men, ranging in age from 19 to 23, Olin Hill, Claudous Ramsey, John Svecite and Karoly Kovacs, are being returned to Nevada County from Las Vegas where they will be charged with burglary growing out of the theft of thousands of dollars worth of loot from five summer homes in the Truckee-Donner area, according to Undersheriff Frank Gallino.

IT ALL BEGAN HERE—Pictured here is a sketch of the one-time tavern that was the birthplace of the world's largest commercial bank, Bank of America. Known at its 1904 founding as the Bank of Italy, the firm was housed in this building at the corner of Washington Street and Columbus Avenue in San Francisco's atmospheric North Beach area.

Bank Of America Observes Birthday

Some 28,000 Bank of America employees throughout California and the world marked the 60th anniversary of the world's largest non-government banking institution on October 16.

Focal point of the birthday party at the bank's San Francisco head office was a giant cake with 868 candles, each representing a California branch Bank of America. Hosts of the party were President R. A. Peterson, Board Chairman Jessie W. Tapp, and Mrs. Clair Giannini Hoffman, daughter of Bank Founder A. P. Giannini.

Before cutting the first piece of cake, Peterson briefly traced the bank's growth from a one-room, three employee firm to its present size.

"I think," he said, "We can all agree with A. P. Giannini's remarks at the bank's 35th anniversary party in 1939. He said we should waste little time looking back at our past accomplishments, except to use our experience to plan new advances into untilled fields of the broadest possible service to the public.

"By dedicating itself to serving all the public," Peterson continued, "and by having the courage to innovate new banking services and expand existing services, Bank of America has grown to what it is today. If we are to continue to be worthy of the reputation and respect this bank has built, we must continue to dedicate ourselves to these principles."

When the California missions were dedicated, a cross was erected not only as an emblem of faith but also as a beacon to guide travelers to the mission.

EFFICIENCY, BEAUTY ARE OBJECTS NEEDED IN SCENIC HIGHWAYS

California scenic highways may become as renowned for their beauty as they now are for their efficiency ,according to a newsletter of the California Roadside Council. The council, a statewide citizens' organization with headquarters in San Francisco, is devoted to the promotion of beauty in our highways and their environs.

The council's hopeful prediction is based on present plans for the development of scenic highways with the California State Highway System. Special standards to be applied to designated scenic highways were authorized by the legislature in its 1963 session and now are being formulated in more specific detail.

"Most encouraging,' 'the Roadside Council states, "is the increased attention being directed to esthetic principles of highway design, which we understand are to be applied in new construction, especially within the system of scenic highways. Among these principles are the careful fitting of highways to the landscape, curvilinear alignment pleasing to the eye, and preservation of plant growth and other natural features."

View points and roadside rests, now in the program, will provide another welcome feature, the Council points out.

As specified in the Scenic Highway Act, counties traversed by scenic highways are expected to protect their scenic corridors, the adjoining areas which fall within the motorist's natural range of vision. Such protection may be afforded by means of local ordinances regulating commercial and other development which would tend to impair the corridor's scenic quality. Where a scenic highway traverses city territory, the city similarly is expected to take what steps are necessary to ensure maximum attractiveness.

Several counties already have adopted special scenic highway zoning regulations and others are making preliminary studies. The most comprehensive scenic highway zoning, according to the Roadside Council, has been done by Monterey and Santa Clara Counties.

The interest with which California's scenic highway plan is being regarded throughout the nation is mentioned by the council as an indication of growing realization of the importance of beauty as an economic as well as an esthetic and recreation factor in modern development programs.

12-Inch Trout For Tahoe Proposed

A California Department of Fish and Game request for permission to plant up to 20,000 pounds of 12-inch sized rainbow trout annually in Lake Tahoe will be considered at the fish and game commission meeting Friday, in Redding. The department recommended the five fish limit at Tahoe be retained.

The DFG stated that a fisheries study of Lake Tahoe over the past few years has indicated that the best way to substantially improve the fishery is by planting large fish. Returns of planted rainbows in the 12-inch size group provided the best return for anglers, the department said.

In June of 1964, the DFG planted 5,000 12-inch rainbows and by late September, 56 percent of them had wound up in anglers' creels.

Returns of smaller fish planted during the study, including eight inch catchable trout, were below the 50 percent minimum set by commission policy, the DFG said, and the 56 percent return of 12-inch rainbows is expected to increase further this year and next.

The Nevada department concurs with California, the DFG said, in the stocking of large rainbows as the most economical way to improve the fishery, and Nevada has agreed to stock 6,000 pounds of 12-inch rainbows each year, beginning next summer.

The Lake Tahoe study will be discontinued in the near future, the DFG said, and the proposed 20,000 pounds of rainbows per year to be planted by California would be equal to the poundage of fish planted there each year during the fisheries study. The number of 12-inch fish planted would be lower than if regular eight inch catchables were planted.

Charles W. Jarvis, a practicing Doctor of Dental Surgery from San Carcos, Texas, who is equally good as a philosopher-humorist, will be the guest of honor when members of the Reno Executive Club meet for dinner Tuesday evening, November 17 at the Mapes Hotel, in the Sky Room.

Dr. Jarvis has appeared before numerous local, state and national groups. He is a true humorist who says, "A sense of humor is indispensable in our society today."

NORTH TAHOE BRIEFS...

Once again the fun tours come to the North Shore and along with them many interesting persons. Readers and locals know Randy and Bill, but taking the spotlight the other weeekend was Sheila Goleman of San Francisco. An accomplished dancer, Sheila entertained all those who were fortunate enough to see her.

Passengers have written Sheila from all over the world and these testimonials show her devotion to her work. Dedication to one's work is unusual today but certainly insures success.

It is with difficulty that we close this column. Why? Bethel and son, Pieter Van Tassel, have moved to 1245 Plumas, Reno. The sudden change was made necessary by a new position.

However, after seven years, leaving a community called home, friends and acquaintances, even under happy circumstances, is not easy.

We wish to thank our readers and contributors for their support. We will miss you and hope you, too, will miss us.

The past year brought an increase of nearly three million visitors at 120 state operated units of California's park system, the department of parks and recreation reported this week.

The Squaw Valley State Recreation area reported 1,211,982 visitors during the year.

The most widely used of the state operated units was Folsom Lake which registered 3,592,497 visitors in the past year.

A penalty of six per cent, plus costs, will be added after the delinquent date. The total tax bill may be paid with the first installment.

New arrival: seeks long-term lease

This new-born fawn and all his kind will prosper. Thanks to the Federal Wilderness Law, millions of beautiful acres will be set aside as a perpetual wilderness and home for wildlife.

Standard Oil welcomes it. Our drilling crews work in close cooperation with fish and game and wildlife officials. Our helicopter crews cooperate in forest fire patrol. Standard men have even gone out of their way to enlarge a breeding pound, or truck water to drought-stricken animals.

If oil is found, operations are planned with a minimum of disturbance. Working areas are fenced to protect the animals . . . wildlife returns, often increases.

Standard Oil men are good neighbors to the wilderness.

When you go to enjoy the great outdoors and its wildlife, rely on the man at the Sign of the Chevron. He'll help you get there, with free touring information, and highest quality S. O. products for your car and boat.

Our first major snow storm hit at a most inopportune time. The dedication of Interstate 80 over Donner Summit Sunday whallowed in a blizzard. Whimsical weather and fate played a major cause in the worst traffic jam in years with traffic jammed up for miles in each direction.

Due to a cattle truck jack-knifing near the summit, a number of dignitaries were delayed 2 hours in reaching the Donner Memorial Park Museum, which was selected to replace the open dedication spot on the summit. So 116 years after the ill fated Donner Party retreated to the east shore of Donner Lake, again a retreat was made to the refuge site.

Local red shirted Clampers and Horsemen brought color of the west to the group and handed out pictured brochures of the new freeway. Jack Marquette was credited with the decision to move the ceremonies to Donner Lake.

Jack and Marilyn Marquette, Ivan Tofft, Mr. and Mrs. Les Hadley, Joe and Marcella Corro and the Whites attended from Donner Lake. Many more from Truckee joined the special program held at the Nugget that evening.

FLASH: More good weather is needed before official opening of the new freeway is made to the public. It is possible, just possible, that it may not be opened until next summer.

The Donner Lake Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary would like to thank Johnny Ciardella for donating use of the Capitol for the recent Harvest Moon Ball staged there. Joe Jessie of Donner Lake purchased the 12 piece silver set after Joan Affeldt auctioned it off after winning it.

Howard Meadows brought his crew of roofers from San Francisco to put on the new roof over the new firehouse shed. . . . and just in time to beat the storm.

Willie "Miss" Curran won first prize at Smart's Hallowe'en Party. His expert make-up kit was so clever, he drew an offer from a red nosed celebrant to take him home. Bill and Harry Weiler took second prize with their Karote outfits. The Beatles were there too. Arlene Smart, Alice Mae Higgins, Hazel Beck and Gladys Pedley made up the combo.

The C. P. Haggards of Dixon enjoyed their new lake front home by catching the last Kokanee Saturday on the last day of fishing season.

Postcard from Claudia and Tony St. Claire advises they haven't found any crocodiles or snakes yet at Fort Meyers, where ahey plan to build soon.

Water skiers from Donner Lake will be competing Saturday and Sunday at the Richmond Water Ski meet. Henry Mockel has been recovering from a serious eye operation and plans to spend Thanksgiving at his Donner Lake cabin with his family.

The Alpineer Ski Club is holding its 7th annual Ski Swap at the Hall of Flowers in San Francisco Saturday from noon to 10 p. m. Many Bay area skiers will be attending the Snow Queen Ball at Del Webb's Town House on Market Street in San Francisco on Saturday.

Thanks to my husband, Carson White, we will have three more ski clubs at Donner Lake this season. They are the Ampex group from the Peninsula, Mount Diablo Ski Club from Walnut Creek and a group from Stanford.

SNOW BUDDIES: Miss America of 1961, Nancy Fleming Johnson, with her polar bear mascot, will reign over the second annual California Winter Sports Fair, November 13-15, at the Cow Palace. Event will feature the nation's top skiers and skaters.

SIERRA PACIFIC WILL UNITE WITH MAJOR FIRMS TO CUT COSTS

Sierra Pacific Power Company will be a part of the largest regional electric development ever planned in the United States or abroad, Fred L. Fletcher, Sierra Pacific president announced in Reno today.

He said the local electric company is joining a new planning and coordinating group composed of 13 electric systems operating in 9 western states which will be known as "Western Energy Supply and Transmission Associates" (WEST).

WEST is presently composed of nine investor owned and several local government-owned electric power suppliers operating in California, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Texas, New Mexico, Wyoming and Idaho, covering an area equal to about one-fifth of the continental United States.

Fletcher, as director of the new association, is charged with responsibility for the announcement in this area. D. W. Reeves, president of Public Service Co. of New Mexico, and firrst president of WEST Associates, made a general announcement of the new organization this morning during a major press conference in Albuquerque.

"Basically, WEST calls for the long-range joint planning of some 36 million kilowatts of new generating capacity and an extra-high-voltage transmission system interconnecting its member power suppliers," Fletcher said. "In addition to bringing a totally new concept of regional joint planning to the Southwest, it will save several billion dollars in construction and operating costs over the next 20 years. This joint approach will make possible the use of the latest technological advances and the lowest cost fuel sources to provide the most economical and reliable service possible for the 15 million consumers in the area.

"That technology," according to Mr. Fletcher, "will use large, efficient geenrating plants, located to best utilize available fuel sources, be they coal, oil, natural gas or the atom. One of the initial projects to be studied, for example, is a large scale plant on or near the coal fields in the Four Corners area of Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and Utah.

"Dual-purpose nuclear power plants in California, capable of making fresh water from sea water and producing electricity simultaneously, have been and are being studied and are definite possiblities in the WEST program. The large interior valleys of Nevada, with their stores of underground water are considered as possible future sites for nuclear power plants.

"All those in the southwest, including the people who have organized WEST, are vitally concerned with the area's future water needs. The sheer magnitude of our program makes it more than merely an electric power undertaking. It can be tied economically and technically to the long-range solution of our water problems and we have every intention of doing so.

"Although specific plant site location, ownership ,approval of various regulatory bodies and other matters are still being worked out," said Mr. Fletcher, "WEST is so conceived that the power plants and transmission lines will be constructed and operated by individual members of WEST or by combinations of two or more members, but all will be coordinated to form an dend, which is at the annual rate tem serving the nine-state area."

NEWS FROM DONNER TRAIL

By Betty Kielhofer

After a howling 'Howl-oween', we'll try to settle down again to busy-ness. Winter arrived with a chilly storm and the only people happy about it seems to be the forest service. They have released the helicopter which stood by on 5-minute call all summer and now can relax a little.

As for the rest of us, business slows down to a lazy walk and most everyone will "twiddle their thumbs" until the snow pack arrives.

Tom Tunney and wife Linda, that striking young couple now managing the Soma Sierra Lease Homes, tell us the rentals are going exceptionally well. This was a most unique idea and one that apparently turned out to be a very good one.

Drop up to the second unit of Donner Trail Estates and inspect these clever little A-frames. I think you will be pleased with this latest business in our community. If it continues to be successful, they may build as many as 40 units in the future.

Alex and Hazel Stewart are off to San Diego for the winter after a most successful season at the Ponderosa Golf course. They have plans of subdividing some of the tree areas next summer, which should afford very exclusive lots. The golf course is certainly in beautiful condition and with the play its getting, I predict they will be needing 18 holes in the not too distant future. That would really put Truckee on the map as a "golfing community".

Bob Denney and brothers have completed their government trade for quite a large parcel lying across the highway from the golf course and have been working with architects for a planned development. Although they haven't decided just which way to go with it, I can assure you it will be novel and much in demand. All the ideas are good and deciding which one will be a problem. They hope to get going on it next summer, too.

It's hard to believe a few short years ago we had only one subdivision and now they are becoming too numerous to count. It still amazes many people coming into the area who remember back. They just can't believe all this property can be selling around Truckee and still more subdivisions going in all the time.

Guess the predictioin a while back of 10,000 permanent residents here is not too far-fetched after all.

I'll wager the Russells and Roses are having the time of their lives in the Islands. They were to rent a plane and "Island Hop". Zeph now has his pilots license as well as Russ so he should get some good experience.

Aloha, 'til next week.

Bank Study Shows Demand Growing For Outing Areas

Business people and other residents of this great recreation area will find much interest in a recent report by Bank of America which says that the skyrocketing demand for recreation in California spells "economic opportunity" for many communities in the state.

"Community Action for Local Development," one of a series of reports published by the bank's Area Development Service in San Francisco, notes that the recreation demand is expected to increase four times faster than population, according to state estimates.

Consequently, the area with either natural or man-made recreation attractions has a potential market of great size. This is particularly important, the report states, for communities with limited industry or other economic activity.

Last year out-of-state tourists spent more than $1 billion in California. Studies reveal that each dollar spent by a tourist ultimately creates from 75 cents to one dollar of new personal income in the community.

However, to capitalize on the recreation market, such fundamentals as a recreation resource, means of access, places to stay and eat, recreation services, after hours attractions, and service facilities must be present in proper degree.

While many feature tourist attractions will be developed by individual businessmen and government agencies, the community effort aimed at recreation development and promotion, the report advises.

The quality of local leadership is often the key to whether basic attractions are preserved and enhanced or ruined through improper development, the report concludes.

In the haste to capitalize on a recreation resource, some communities have failed to properly control commercial development and the area has become a jumbled mess of garish signs. In some cases, communities have actually destroyed the qualities the recreation visitor likes.

CONTRACT FOR LOCAL GARBAGE IS RENEWED

Oliver Crose, clerk of the Truckee Sanitary District, this week announced that the board has renewed a contract with Harry Stout of the Truckee Donner Disposal Service for a period of five years with a five year option.

Under the contract, Stout will pay the district $150 a month and will maintain his own dump.

The average annual runoff of California streams is estimated at 71 million acre-feet per year.

FORMER RESIDENTS UNITE AT STAR MEET

Local members of the Order of Eastern Star who recently attended the Grand Chapter breakfast in Sacramento honoring Louise Anderson of Tahoe Vista, newly appointed Deputy Grand Matron of the 13th District, enjoyed a wonderful visit with some old time residents of this area.

All of these former residents were looking very well, and sent their best wishes to friends in the area.

Among these guests who were honored as past matrons of Truckee Chapter were the following residents of the Sacramento area: Mrs. Jennie Watkins, a member of Truckee Chapter since 1917, and a former school teacher in Truckee. She has many interests still, visits friends in the area occasionally and hopes to attend the installation ceremony planned by the local chapter on November 7th, when she will renew friendships with John and Dorothy Corbin, with whom she taught school in the Sacramento area for approximately 12 years.

She was also happy to visit with Mrs. Shirley Gini, newly elected associate conductress of Truckee chapter, when she discovered that Mrs. Gini's husband, Eugene, had been one of her former pupils at the Truckee grammar school. Mrs. Vernie Wood, member of Truckee chapter since 1924. and former resident of Hobart Mills.

Mrs. Theresa Buddle, who with husband Robert Buddle, operated the Southern Pacific Hotel in Truckee for many years, and who has been a member since 1936.

Mrs. Lillian Miller, wife of Byron Miller, formerly stationed with the agricultural inspection station in Truckee, lived at Floriston before moving to Sacramento,

First Big Storm

mache rock which was slated to be blown up as an opening gesture, would be exploded at a later date.

Nevada's governor, Grant Sawyer, headed a delegation from his state and Congressman Harold T. Johnson, State Senator Paul Lunardi, Robert B. Bradford, administrator of the California Transportation Agency, representing Governor Edmund G. Brown, T. Lawrence Jones, deputy federal highway administrator, all spoke on the importance of the new highway across the Sierra.

Approximately 150 people were able to attend the brief but impressive ceremonies.

The storm, the first major one of the season, caught thousands of motorists unprepared. Most service stations in the area sold out stocks of chains and motorists returning home from the Nevada Centennial celebration and from hunting trips, were stalled. Traffic at times was backed up from seven to ten miles and the highway was closed about 1 p. m. when a hopeless snarl on Highway 40 became impassible. About 6 p. m. snow plows managed to break through on one lane of the new freeway, permitting travel to move slowly westward, while vehicles were stopped at Baxter going east.

As soon as the heavy volume of vahicles was cleared, the new freeway was closed again to permit work to continue on the shoulders and other details which will take three or four weeks to complete, weather permitting.

A cocktail party and banquet in Reno concluuded the dedication ceremonies. The Truckee-Donner, Placer County and Reno Chambers of Commerce planned and arranged the dedication.
